Economic performance of Hong Kong in 2023

In 2023, heightened geopolitical tensions had a significant negative impact on global economic confidence, leading central banks of advanced economies to raise interest rates sharply in an effort to control inflation. This tightening of global financial conditions resulted in reduced import demand for goods. The International Monetary Fund estimated that global economic growth slowed to 3.1% in 2023.

Meanwhile, Hong Kong experienced a 3.2% increase in its Gross Domestic Product in 2023. The labour market in Hong Kong showed continuous improvement, as the seasonally-adjusted unemployment rate dropped from 3.5% in the fourth quarter of 2022 to 2.9% in the latest period. Overall, local inflation remained moderate, with an underlying inflation rate of 1.7% in 2023.

The total Government revenue for 2024-25 is estimated to be HK$633 billion. The operating expenditure and capital expenditure for 2024-25 are estimated to be HK$613.8 billion and HK$163.1 billion respectively. The total Government expenditure for 2024-25 is estimated to be HK$776.9 billion, an increase of 6.7% from the revised estimate for 2023-24. The Financial Secretary forecasts a deficit of HK$48.1 billion in the consolidated account for 2024-25. The fiscal reserves are estimated to be HK$685.1 billion by the end of March 2025.
